Opening Day Of Hunting Fatal To 4

Heat Hampers Shooters; Freeze Is Forecast

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 16 (P)—Four hunters died on the first day of Michigan's small game and wild-fowl season Friday.

The turnout for the start of the season was comparatively light but conservation officials said today that they expected the weekend and a forecast of freezing temperatures to bring out more hunters.

Preliminary reports were that first day shooters and their dogs were hampered by the heat.

Two hunters died of accidental shotgun wounds within one hour after the go-ahead sign at noon yesterday. Herbert Brown, 37, of Mason, was fatally shot by a member of his hunting party. Lowell Richer, 19, of Cassopolis, was killed when his gun discharged as he placed in against a fence.

Ulysses Daniel, 29, of Detroit, drowned in lower Bushman lake near Milford when he swam out to retrieve two ducks he had shot down.

The youngest victim of the day was 12-year-old James Foster of Clark lake. Sheriff's officers said James had just returned from a hunting trip with a younger brother when a shotgun discharged accidentally.

A search was underway for 70-year-old Russell Bonello, Detroit, who was reported lost in a swamp south of Hillsdale. He was first missed about 1:30 p. m.

Dr. Don Douglas, conservation department game specialist said yesterday's turnout was "the same or less than 1947, except in certain state-owned game areas where the pressure was fairly heavy."

Philippines Gloomy On Peace Outlook

War Seen Before Nov. 2 By Manila Diplomats

Manila, Oct. 16 (P)—Pessimistic reports on the outlook for world peace from Philippine diplomats and observers sent a wave of foreboding through the country this week.

The feeling was heightened somewhat by a presidential warning of a possible emergency and a front page news summary in the Manila Times which said:

"Confidential reports in Manila from the smart boys in the United States say they look for war before the Elpidio Quirino advised a joint meeting of his cabinet and council of state to condition the country for a possible emergency."

VETERAN FOUND DEAD

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Oct. 16 (P)—A disabled air force veteran discharged from Percy Jones hospital four weeks ago was found dead last night in the woods near his home, a shotgun at his side. Police listed the death of 23-year-old William Burgess of Richmond as suicide.

TROPHY OF THE HUNT—Leon "Bill" Lord, Rapid River businessman, pictured with head of big moose which weighed over 1500 pounds, shot last week in Canada about 100 northeast of Kenora. Two hunting companions from Milwaukee also were successful in getting moose, shooting them from a canoe at the edge of a lake as they were about to charge each other. Lord is having the head mounted as a trophy of the hunt. The huge rack had a spread of 48 inches and the palms were exceptionally wide.

Truman Winds Up Tour, Confident Of Winning Election

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO
Aboard Truman Campaign Train, Oct. 16 (P)—President Truman spoke confidently of "winning" as he hit the trail for Washington today to close another talkathon campaign swing covering 3,500 miles.

His six-day midwestern tour, as grueling as a six-day bicycle race—and with about as little time out for rest—brought his total of pre-election speeches to 216. He is due back at the capital at 4 p. m. (EST).

The president's effort to talk his way back into the White House takes only a brief weekend recess before he starts out again about a flight to Miami for a "non-political" speech to the American Legion convention. He flies into Raleigh, N. C., late Monday for two speeches there Tuesday.

After that comes the windup—a flight to Pittsburgh next Saturday for a major talk and a final railroad swing starting by special train from Washington.

There will be speeches at Chicago Oct. 25, Cleveland Oct. 26, Boston Oct. 27, New York Oct. 28, Brooklyn Oct. 29, and St. Louis Oct. 30.

And not even the president knows how many "whistle stops" he will make in between these major night appearances.

With 15,458 miles behind him and 7,000 miles to go, the president insists at every appearance that "We are going to win." He appeals for the large vote he says will benefit the Democrats.

Taking cognizance of public opinion polls which show his Republican opponent, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, far in the lead, Mr. Truman tells his crowds that the only "poll" that counts is the one Nov. 2 in which the voters cast their "ballots."

The president has expressed astonishment at the size of the turnout he has had all over the country. Police estimated the crowd which heard his rear platform address at Kokomo, Ind., yesterday at close to 40,000.

Poole, who represents the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corporation, Hagerstown, Md., at the government's Oak Ridge (Tenn.) atom plant, is head of the thermodynamics section of an Oak Ridge group working on nuclear-propelled aircraft.

He explained that our present aircraft—even the newest types, are limited by the very heavy loads of gasoline required to carry them long distances.

However atomic fuel is as powerful as two million times its weight in gasoline.

Dr. Morris Kolodney of the city college of New York has estimated that one pound of uranium could drive a B-29 around the world six times.

Daughter Rescued, Son Dies In Fire

South Haven, Oct. 16 (P)—Awaking from an afternoon nap, Maurice Montgomery found his home afire and carried his seven-month-old daughter and his housekeeper's son to safety. But when he tried to re-enter to rescue his two-year-old son Richard, he was driven back by flames. A search of the ruins for the child's body is underway.

War Threat Flares Again In Holy Land

Jews Provoke Foe With Sitting Duck Convoy

Haifa, Israel, Oct. 16 (P)—United Nations officials announced tonight that Israel has rejected a cease fire order issued to Israeli and Egyptian forces fighting in the Negev, Palestine's southern desert. The order was issued by the chief of staff of the United Nations truce commission.

BY CARTER L. DAVIDSON
Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 16 (P)—Jews and Egyptians hammered each other in Southern Palestine today with land and air attacks that threatened to shatter the Holy Land truce.

Casualties from yesterday's fighting are reported to be heavy. The clashes came as the United Nations met in Paris to ponder means of bringing lasting peace to Palestine.

Whether the new violence—gravest in three months—constitutes a mere truce fracture or resumption of full scale war, may be decided on the outcome of military action in the next 12 hours.

Fighting broke out in the Negev where Jews and Egyptians have been scowling at each other since the truce began.

The trouble apparently started when the Jews chose the opening of the U. N. Palestine debate to try and rush a daylight convoy to 23 Jewish settlements in the southern desert, 80 miles south of Tel Aviv.

Air Force Hits Back
The Egyptians who overlook the road along the entire route pounced on the convoy and turned it back. Two trucks of the 16-vehicle group were burned and several persons killed.

Anonymous U. N. observers said the Jews apparently sent a "sitting duck" convoy under Egyptian guns as a provocative gesture to pave the way for last night's Israeli air force strike-back.

The terse Israeli announcement of Jewish bombing of Egyptian bases in the south said "Following today's Egyptian land and air attacks in the Negev, the Israeli air force took action against Egyptian bases. Ground clashes also flared up in various parts of the area."

Following yesterday's emergency blackout broadcast, all Israel and Jewish Jerusalem went to bed in the dark. No Arab air raids were reported up to midnight.

French Take Action On Money Troubles

Labor Unrest Dwindles; No General Strike

Paris, Oct. 16 (P)—The French government, its labor troubles slightly on the wane, moved today to take action against its money troubles.

Some kind of change in the value of the franc is expected to be discussed today and tomorrow between top financial leaders of western Europe.

France's labor unrest seemed likely to simmer out as the Communist-controlled General Confederation of Labor (CGT) voted last night unanimously against calling a general strike.

The CGT pledged itself to seek the destruction of the European recovery program and voted for cooperation with Russia and continued pressure for Communist participation in the French government.

Secretary-General Benoit Franchon praised the results he said had been achieved by the present policy of partial strikes. The CGT convention called for a minimum monthly wage of 15,000 francs (about $50).

There was no sign of a break in the 13-day coal walkout. The Communist-led union reacted to a government charge that the mines are suffering from neglect by ordering strikers to abandon all care of mines for 24 hours Monday.

'March Of Dimes' Goal 30 Millions To Battle Polio

Los Angeles, Oct. 16—Thirty million dollars is the national goal of the next March of Dimes campaign against polio.

Warren D. Coss of New York, fund raising director, says the sum is needed because there may be a $20,000,000 deficit this year, "the blackest year" in the fight against infantile paralysis.

He told California, Nevada and Arizona fund leaders yesterday that there have been more than 20,000 polio cases this year. The total may reach 30,000 by year's end.

GUARD AGAINST TYPHOID
Cheboygan (P)—City health officer, Dr. James R. Stringham, warned residents Friday to boil drinking water for several days. Dr. Stringham said typhoid germs could have gotten into the water works system during the six hours a water main was broken Thursday night.

Russians Tighten Up Berlin Food Pinch

Target Drills To Menace Allied Air Lift

Berlin, Oct. 16 (P)—The Americans today protested against a Russian announcement they will practice anti-aircraft fire at towered targets in the Allied airfield corridor. U. S. authorities charged it would be a dangerous violation of air safety rules.

The Russians posted a warning at the four-power Berlin air safety center that they will conduct the drill today at their Haselberg airport in the Bueckeburg corridor.

The Russians also announced they will conduct "local flying" drills at various other points in the Allied corridors.

Meanwhile the Russians tightened their blockade to prevent any food from slipping into Berlin's western sectors from the surrounding Soviet occupation zone.

The German Communist government announced that effective immediately passengers on all trains, inland waterways and motor vehicles would be searched for foodstuffs or other rationed articles. These articles would be immediately confiscated, especially if the passengers carrying them were bound for Berlin.

In his final major talk in Eugene, Ore., last night, Warren concluded the formal phase of his coast-to-coast swing on the same note of nonpartisan national unity with which he opened it Sept. 15.

In a summation of what he said he learned in the past month's travel, Warren declared there was universal concern over the high cost of living, foreign relations (particularly relations with Russia), Communism, and a consistent foreign policy.

"In all of these things," he asserted, "the American people are too earnest to be satisfied with the blind partisanship which some seeking national office in this campaign are endeavoring to incite."

There were reports of headaches, nausea and sore throats attributed to the smell. City toxicologist J. B. Swin cautioned against alarm and said some of the illness reports might be due to "mass hysteria."

City Health Director J. C. Geiger and the U. S. weather bureau finally solved the mystery. They said it originated from oil refineries across the bay. Gases from the refineries accumulated in what the weather bureau called "dead air." They were blown out to sea. And then the wind changed and blew them back over the entire bay region.

Barge Sinks Off Alaska, 5 Aboard

Seattle, Oct. 16 (P)—Coast Guard headquarters reported early today that a 105-foot self-propelled barge with five crewmembers aboard had SOS-ed it was sinking in heavy seas 85 miles east of Cape St. Elias, Alaska.

Contact with the barge, the Starston, was lost within minutes of the time its distress call was received at 11:06 p. m. (Pacific Standard Time) last night.

The vessel reported it was taking water more rapidly than its pumps could handle, and radio batteries would be short circuited at any moment.

Grease-Fed Blaze Loss Over Million At Naval Air Base

Quonset Point, R. I., Oct. 16 (P)—As the ruins cooled, the Navy today sought the cause of a roaring, grease-fed fire which yesterday caused loss estimated at over $1,000,000 to the Quonset Point Naval Air Station.

Twenty-one persons were injured, two seriously, as the fire raged through the engine shop in the station's huge overhaul and repair hangar.

Boner Pulled By Vishinsky In UN Blast

BY JOSEPH E. DYMAN

Paris, Oct. 16 (P)—Western power officials said today Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky had alienated the Security Council "neutrals" by challenging their motives in attempting to mediate the Berlin problem.

A French delegate said Vishinsky had pulled a "boner." Other western spokesmen said he had pushed the "neutrals" over to their side by charging a trap was being baited for Russia.

Vishinsky refused to answer questions on the Berlin blockade and the four-power Moscow negotiations, repeating the Russian argument that the Security Council had no business discussing Berlin.

The questions were put to all four parties to the Berlin dispute by Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Bramuglia, acting chairman of the Security Council during the Berlin debate. The U. S., Britain and France promised their answers at next Tuesday's council session.

The "neutrals" meanwhile decided to meet again today to try to work out a possible solution to the impasse.

The six "neutrals," led by Bramuglia, have been trying to find a way out of the impasse since Oct. 6 but after yesterday's meeting the four powers were as far apart as ever.

Vishinsky broke his silence at the meeting only to accuse the would-be mediators of trying to trap Russia into taking part in the debate. "It is naive to believe the Soviet Union will swallow this bait," he said.

In a strongly worded reply, Bramuglia said "I therefore most firmly and categorically deny that in any of our minds was there any question of double dealing."

The Palestine question, which was brought up by the assembly's political committee yesterday, was edged out of the picture by a report from the subcommittee on atomic energy which will be taken up by the committee Monday.

The subcommittee is expected to recommend that the five permanent members of the Security Council and Canada continue to seek an agreement in principle on regulation of atomic energy.

The Palestine question will not be taken up again until after the atomic energy report has been voted on.

Plot To Overthrow Nicaragua Charged

Managua, Nicaragua, Oct. 16 (P)—Nicaragua's war minister says Cuba, Costa Rica, Guatemala and Venezuela are backing a movement to overthrow the Nicaraguan government.

Gen. Anastasio Somoza declared yesterday that the plot also was directed against El Salvador and Honduras.

A foreign ministry spokesman in Caracas said: "The government of Venezuela rejects the ridiculous and preposterous accusation made by Somoza."

A Cuban leader in Havana said: "Of course there are no expeditionary forces in Cuba. Nor are there any arms for expeditionary forces. The only arms are in the hands of our own armed forces. Any accusation to the contrary is utterly false."

Somoza formerly was Nicaraguan president. He is generally recognized as the "strong man" of Nicaragua.

A report from Mexico City said the Caribbean Legion, after four months of training is shifting its base from San Jose, Costa Rica, to Guatemala. The first contingent of Legionnaires arrived in Guatemala by commercial airline this week, the report said.

San Francisco Wind Brings In Bad Odor

San Francisco, Oct. 16 (P)—A strange disagreeable odor permeated most of San Francisco yesterday and public agencies were besieged while nobody seemed to know the cause. Some thought it was from the burning of creosote-soaked logs at the beach. The navy said a ship offshore might be pumping out its bilges.

There were reports of headaches, nausea and sore throats attributed to the smell. City toxicologist J. B. Swin cautioned against alarm and said some of the illness reports might be due to "mass hysteria."

City Health Director J. C. Geiger and the U. S. weather bureau finally solved the mystery. They said it originated from oil refineries across the bay. Gases from the refineries accumulated in what the weather bureau called "dead air." They were blown out to sea. And then the wind changed and blew them back over the entire bay region.

Cold Wave Strikes Michigan Tonight

The season's first generally freezing temperatures are predicted for Sunday night, ushered in on a cold wave expected to hit the state today.

The weather bureau said the chilly weather due to follow the showers forecast for today probably would last four or five days.

The automobile club of Michigan warned motorists to put antifreeze in their automobiles immediately.

The cold weather forecast pleased hunters who had begun the small game season yesterday in unseasonably mild temperatures. Hunters reported their dogs were hampered by the heat.

President Orders Reserves Organized As Security Move

Clarkeburg, W. Va., Oct. 16 (P)—President Truman announced today he has directed the defense department to "organize all military reserve units required for the national security."

The presidential order, requiring action "without delay," called for establishment of "vigorous and progressive reserve training programs."

Mr. Truman told Defense Secretary Forrestal and the heads of the armed service departments under him.

The president told Forrestal to assign "an active, capable, high-ranking officer" to head the reserve program in each department of the national defense establishment.

Mr. Truman signed an executive order aboard his Washington-bound campaign train shortly before midnight, to carry out the program.

It says the national security requires that "reserve components of appropriate strength and maximum effectiveness exist throughout the nation."

In a statement, Mr. Truman said the organized reserve corps of the Army and Air Force have not made as rapid progress as other branches of the service in building up their postwar strength.

Forrestal was directed to report within 60 days on progress under the order.

Telephone Dispute Deadline Tuesday

Sunday Meeting Booked For Bargaining Table

Detroit, Oct. 16 (P)—Working against a Tuesday deadline, Michigan Bell wage negotiators go back to the bargaining table on Sunday.

The Sunday meeting was announced today by Philip Weiss, chairman of the state labor mediation board.

It was arranged after talks adjourned last night without an agreement followed a four-day truce agreed to with Governor Sigler.

If no agreement is reached by Tuesday, the governor will appoint a fact-finding panel to study the dispute and make recommendations.

The question was whether the panel would be in an advisory capacity or make proposals which would be binding on both parties.

Michigan Bell has offered the operators union a $3 to $5 weekly increase and the plant workers $3 to $6. The unions demand a flat $5.20.

Key Manchuria Base In Hands Of Rebels

Nanking, Oct. 16 (P)—The government's key Manchurian base, Chinsien, today is in the hands of the Reds.

Its fall was confirmed by the ministry of defense. Chinsien was the second major government base to be captured by the Communists in less than a month.

Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, fell into Red hands late last month.

Inquiry On G. O. P. Campaign Fund Has Recess To Tuesday

Detroit, Oct. 16 (P)—The federal grand jury investigating alleged Republican party campaign fund irregularities is in recess until Tuesday.

The panel questioned three Detroit auto dealers briefly yesterday. Previously, five Flint dealers were indicted by a companion Bay City grand jury.

Detroiters testifying before the jury were Jack MacMichael and Fletcher Parks, president and secretary of the MacMichael-Parks Ford agency, and Charles Kotcher, president of Kotcher Oldsmobile Co.

FELONY CHARGE AWAITS SAILOR

W. G. Paul Arrested In Sturgeon Bay

Chief Machinist's Mate W. G. Paul of the U. S. S. Hollyhock, lighthouse tender, was arrested in Sturgeon Bay Friday evening on a warrant issued in Escanaba charging him with breaking and entering in the nighttime, without intent to steal.

The charge was an outgrowth of a drinking spree Thursday night when Paul allegedly entered the McMeekan residence while he was intoxicated and helped himself to several bottles of beer and a lunch from the family refrigerator.

Paul's overcoat, which he said that he was searching for when he entered the upstairs bedroom of Mrs. McMeekan early Friday morning, later was found in the McMeekan garage, together with a bottle of brandy, his pocketbook, containing identification and a small amount of money, also was in his overcoat.

It is presumed that Paul hitchhiked to Sturgeon Bay to return to his duties aboard the USS Hollyhock Friday morning, making his departure from Escanaba while local police were searching for him.

Undersheriff Emil Johnson left for Sturgeon Bay this morning to return the prisoner to Escanaba.

Paul was aboard the coast guard vessel when Sturgeon Bay police contacted him Friday and notified him of the warrant issued against him. Service laws prohibited his arrest aboard the U. S. vessel but he surrendered to Sturgeon Bay police at the police department headquarters. He waived extradition to return to Escanaba.

The correct name of the sailor was established by his identification papers found in his overcoat. Previously police had identified him as W. G. Hall.

Delta Road Crew Layoff Delayed; Bark River To Give Snow Removal Aid

The Delta county road commission in special meeting this morning agreed to continue operations with the present field crew of approximately 60 men after receiving assurance that Bark River township will pay for the cost of snow removal in that township this coming winter.

Layoff notices had been given 29 road commission employees on Wednesday pending a formal action by the commission at its special meeting today. The notice was for one week, and the number of field employees would have been reduced by half if the commission today had not felt hopeful that additional townships will follow Bark River's lead.

Supervisor Omer Tanguay, Bark River township, who is also chairman of the county board's roads and bridges committee, attended today's meeting and announced his township's offer of assistance for removal.

Others May Help
He said he had consulted with the township board members and they informally agreed that Bark River will "give $4,000 or up to the cost of plowing snow in our township." The offer was contingent on the commission's not closing the Bark River district garage, as had been proposed under the possible layoff plan.

"I feel sure our township board will approve of this proposition, and I hope that other townships will go along to finance the cost of snow removal in their townships," Supervisor Tanguay said. "It looks like the cities are going to hold out and not help out," he added.

The Bark River supervisor had checked snow removal costs in his township and said it would probably run over $4,000. He declared his township board did not want men lay off at this critical time of the year and did not want the Bark River garage closed. All of the $4,000 could not be paid at once by Bark River and the remainder would have to wait until more sales tax diversion funds are received.

Delta Road Commissioners Harry Greene of Garden, chairman, Hilding Norstrom of Gladstone and Henry Wylie of Escanaba expressed appreciation for Bark River's offer.

Still In the Red
Supervisor Tanguay's proposal was made after financial reports were made by William Karas, superintendent—engineer, and Commissioner Wylie.

Karas reported the county needs approximately $44,000 total to cover snow removal costs in the winter ahead, and $39,000 to finance other than snow removal work to April 1, when 1949 funds will begin to come in. By March 31, 1949, the road commission's total deficit would be $75,767 unless help was received, he reported.

Commissioner Wylie took a less serious view and from figures he had compiled reported that the road commission would end the year with a balance of about $4,000. Hoped-for aid by the legislature and the townships would help the road department get through the rest of the winter.

Both Karas and Wylie were in agreement on one point: That even with aid from the townships to cover snow removal costs, the road department would be in the red next spring unless unforeseen revenue is received. If the com-

Quartets Arriving In Escanaba For Big Show Tonight

Out-state barber shop quartets began arriving in Escanaba this morning, ready for the harmony parade to be held at the junior high school auditorium tonight, sponsored by the Escanaba barber shop chorus. The program will start at 8:15 p. m. sharp, and ten quartets will sing, including six from Wisconsin and four from the Upper Peninsula. All will be male quartets with the exception of the Chordettes, famed female barber shop four from Sheboygan, Wis. There will be groups of songs by the Escanaba chorus of 36 voices and specialty acts by Sam Ham director of the chorus, and others. A late check-up on advance ticket sales indicated a near-capacity house, with less than 50 tickets available for sale at the door tonight.

mission borrows from a $40,000 loan offered by the county. It must repay the amount in early May, 1949.

Commissioners Norstrom and Greene also agreed with Karas that hoped-for revenues and promises of aid would not meet pay-rolls.

U. P. FARM LOAN GROUP TO MEET

Annual Meeting Tuesday
In Houghton

Houghton, Mich.—Details have been completed for a joint annual stockholders' meeting of the Superior National Farm Loan association, of Houghton and the Upper Peninsula Production Credit association of Escanaba, which is to be held in the Veterans of Foreign Wars building in Houghton, Tuesday, October 19, commencing at 10:30 a. m. EST.

Albert Kinnon, secretary-treasurer of the Superior National Farm Loan association said: "This has been one of the most successful years in the association's history. The association is in sound financial condition and again is in position to pay a four per cent dividend to its stockholders. The trend in new loan business is favorable and more loans have been closed this year than for a number of years."

John A. Wolkenhauer, secretary-treasurer of the Upper Peninsula Production Credit association, reports that Production Credit association business in this area has increased greatly since the facilities of the Houghton National Farm Loan association office have been obtained. Through an arrangement with the Superior National Farm Loan association, Mr. Kinnon represents the Production Credit association as assistant secretary-treasurer, and it is now possible to give farmers fast service on short term credit. Mr. Wolkenhauer and Harold Gustafson, president of the Production Credit association, will conduct the Production Credit association part of the joint meeting.

The National Farm Loan association office in Houghton services approximately a million dollars of farm real estate mortgages, while the Production Credit association of Escanaba has several hundreds of thousands in short term agricultural credit and covers the entire Upper Peninsula.

NEW COURSES ARE OFFERED

Rapid River H. S. Has Seen Expansion

Rapid River, Mich.—A workshop, home economics department and agricultural course have been established in Rapid River high school since it has been organized into a rural agricultural school by election this summer.

The townships of Bay de Noc, Ensign and Masonville were consolidated into one school district at an election held Aug. 12. The school district is governed by Sheldon Cobb of Stonington as president, Mrs. Marie Callahan of Rapid River as secretary, Leslie Caswell of Rapid River as treasurer, and Richard Johnston and Andrew Sundberg of Ensign as trustees.

Alton School Closed

Since this district was formed under the Rural Agricultural school act, the Alton school, at Ensign has been closed. The kindergarten through sixth grades are taught at the Stone Anderson school in Ensign by Mrs. Ellen Gustafson and Mrs. Hazel Stenlund and at the Central school and Bungalow school in Bay de Noc township by Mrs. Thora Peterson and Miss Alice Kniskern, respectively. There are 65 pupils at the Stone Anderson school and 25 at the Central school, and 21 at the Bungalow school.

Total enrollment in the entire consolidated district is 465, transported by a fleet of seven buses.

All Masonville township elementary students are taught in the Rapid River school, as well as all students in the district from grade seven to twelve.

Workshop for Boys

The garage at the school in Rapid River has been converted into a workshop for boys. The instructor, Leonard England, arrived a week ago and has started classes in mechanical drawing. Woodworking equipment for the department is now being purchased and will be installed this year. Metal working equipment will be installed in the following school year. Forty-three boys are enrolled in the course.

All sewing equipment, centering about eight machines, has been installed in the home economics department for the 44 girls enrolled for the course. Cooking equipment is now being bought and will be installed shortly. Two or three kitchen units will be provided. Mrs. Harold Snyder instructs the two classes.

Carroll Norden is instructing a class of 12 boys in agriculture. Other activities offered students under the consolidated program are physical education under Norman Slough, principal; vocal music under Paul Bowers, superintendent; and a high school and German band and a program of intramural sports.

Rehearsing for Operetta

The vocal music students are now rehearsing for production of the operetta, "Mutiny on the Mary Anne." The one-act musical will be presented before Christmas with 20 boys and 34 girls participating.

A glee club for seventh and eighth grade girls has been organized; and the German band, which will play for pep assemblies and other school functions, now has five players. James Stoker is directing the high school band which already has 29 members.

A drivers training course is also offered the high school students and about 25 are now receiving instruction, under James Stoker.

Another important addition to the school program is the hot lunch project which serves 240 pupils daily.

State College Has 2,532 In R. O. T. C.

East Lansing, Michigan (AP)—Michigan State college has an all-time record enrollment of 2,532 students in the reserve officer training corps this fall, Col. Charles Dissinger, ROTC commander, said Friday.

One reason for the increase is the larger number of non-veteran students attending college, Col. Dissinger said. All students at MSC with no previous service are required to take military training.

NEW TEACHER—Leonard S. England, pictured above, brings a wealth of experience to his new position as shop teacher in the Rapid River rural agricultural school district. Announcement of his appointment was made recently by R. Paul Bowers, Rapid River school superintendent.

Dale Jackson Is Chosen Student Manager At EHS

Dale Jackson, a senior, was appointed as Escanaba senior high school student manager for the 1948-49 school year, it was announced yesterday.

The job of student manager is one of the most important in the school and the success of the school year rests on the student manager's shoulders. Since the position of student manager is so important, a little different procedure is used in selecting the applicant to fill this office. First, applications are open to any member of the junior or senior class who thinks he is qualified to fill this position. A faculty committee then has to approve the applications before the matter is presented to the student council. A vote by secret ballot is then used to select the manager.

The first duty on Dale's agenda will be the forming of the departments. A civil service list is compiled after students have applied for department membership, and from that, the manager appoints the department chairmen and members. The manager must attend all council meetings although he does not have a vote in the council, and he must be present at the department meetings, keeping them busy with various activities.

Plan Program For Delta Potato Show On Oct. 21

Delta county's 1948 bumper potato crop has now been harvested and growers of the county are beginning the selection of their best tubers for display at the County Potato Show to be held next Thursday, Oct. 21.

The year has been one of the best for potato production in many years and yields are proportionately high, with the possibility that new records will be set. Approximately 2,200 acres were planted to potatoes in the county last spring and the value of the crop this year is estimated at nearly one million dollars.

The county show is sponsored by the Potato Boosters association, and growers are competing in the ninth year of the Potato Boosters contest for trophies and cash awards. Scores in the 1949 contest are now being compiled, and winners in the four divisions of the contest will be announced at the evening program of the Potato show.

Last year Frank Falcies, young Baldwin township farmer, grew 794.9 bushels an acre for a new county and state potato production record.

This year the potato show will be held in the show rooms of the Northern Motor company, Ludington street, Escanaba; and in the evening in Cornell town hall where the winners will be announced and a social program enjoyed. The public is invited to attend both events.

The prize-winning displays of county potatoes will be received in Escanaba not later than next Wednesday noon, according to J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent. The tubers will be brushed and cleaned, but not washed. They will be displayed on long tables in the Northern Motor show room, and residents of the cities and townships will view them there Thursday afternoon.

The Potato Booster contest is in four divisions: 1—For small growers who have less than six acres planted to potatoes; 2—Certified seed growers; 3—Growers of tablestock potatoes; and 4—Boys and girls in 4-H potato club work.

Potato shows are being held in most Upper Peninsula counties this month preparatory to the U. P. Potato Show to be held in Iron Mountain Nov. 2, 3 and 4. Winners in the county shows will have their winning samples taken to Iron Mountain for the U. P. contest.

Delta county will again have a queens contest in connection with the Potato Show.

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce is in charge of all arrangements including selection of judges, arrangement of program and announcement of the winner at the evening program of the potato show at Cornell.

Thus far, six candidates have entered the contest. They are Donna Faye Watchorn of Fayette, Theresa Lessard of Bark River, Shirley Stevenson of Perkins, Betty Helgemo, Escanaba, Route 1, Delores Way of Cornell and Marilyn Johnson of Stonington.

Annual feature of the Potato Shows is the selection of a Potato Show queen from each county, to preside at the local show and then compete for the Upper Peninsula title at the U. P. show. The winner of the Delta county queen contest will be crowned next Thursday night at Cornell as a part of the entertainment program.

EHS Selects Cheerleaders

Cheerleaders of Escanaba Senior High school for the school year were selected by the student council at a special meeting held on September 27. After the tryouts, Lorie Groos, Jackie LaCrosse, Bob Schrader, Bob Myrsten, and alternates Donna Mileski and Joan Frasher were chosen. These six survived the elimination contest in which about twenty students participated. Voting was done by secret ballot.

position of student manager since this plan was first inaugurated here. This plan of school government, modeled after the style of our city government, has proved very effective and has been in operation in school since 1945. Anna Mae Loveland, Joyce Nichol and Marian Birkenmeier have been the former student managers.

Dale has been a member of the student council for the past two years. He was football student manager last year and a delegate to Wolverine Boys State. He is secretary of the National Honor society and a member of the Orange and Black Society.

CAR OWNERS

AND Operators:

Why should it be necessary for residents of the townships to travel to Escanaba to obtain an operator's or chauffeur's license from the Sheriff's department? In some instances it is necessary for them to travel as much as a hundred miles to obtain the license.

I PROPOSE:

If I am elected Sheriff on November 2, to arrange and publish a schedule of dates on which I will be at strategic points in the townships for the purpose of issuing operators' and chauffeurs' licenses to residents in their own vicinities.

This proposed arrangement will also permit the residents of the townships to discuss any other matters they desire in connection with the Sheriff's office.

Heavy Registration

THE record number of new election registrations, 641, since the primary election gives promise of an exceptionally heavy vote in the general election here November 2.

This is an encouraging indication that the citizenry is taking its election obligations more seriously than in the past. It is sad but true that the percentage of Americans who vote has consistently been considerably smaller than the percentage of persons of other lands who vote in countries where the ballot box still means something.

The large number of new registrations since the primary plus the voters who registered shortly before the primary election in September indicates an increase in the total number of registered voters here this year by approximately 900.

Heavy registrations alone do not guarantee a large vote but the fact that so many persons completed their registrations in the past few weeks indicate that these people want to be sure that they are qualified to vote in November.

As we have indicated on so many occasions in the past, there is small danger of subversive influences becoming dangerous in our political system as long as overwhelming percentages of qualified voters go to the polls on election days.

Sound Truck Problem

NEW YORK'S new ordinance regulating sound trucks may set a precedent in drawing a fine legal line between noise and free speech.

The American Municipal association reports that the ordinance just adopted by New York City was designed to permit regulation of sound trucks without infringing on Constitutional rights granted by the First Amendment.

Anti-noise efforts vs. freedom of speech became an issue recently when the U. S. supreme court declared unconstitutional a Lockport, N. Y., law permitting the police chief to regulate and ban mobile public address units at his discretion.

The highest court ruled that the ordinance was unconstitutional because "it established a previous restraint on the right of free speech," and in its decision objected that the local law prescribed no standards for the exercise of the police chief's discretion.

New York City's new ordinance fixes what officials hope are "clear and definite standards" governing the issuance of permits for use of sound trucks and other voice amplifying devices.

The ordinance, drafted specifically "to overcome the supreme court decision in the Lockport case, fixes a $5 per day fee for each voice amplifying device; bars their use on city streets for commercial purposes; forbids them within certain distances of schools, churches, and at locations where traffic would be impeded. It also restricts the hours the devices may be used, and controls their volume.

Other cities also have been having legal difficulties with anti-noise regulation. Los Angeles, whose ordinance against sound trucks was declared invalid, has appealed its case to a higher court.

The efforts of other cities to solve this problem is of considerable interest in Escanaba, where a similar attempt at regulation is subject to attack.

ITU Cited By Court

THE action of Federal Judge Luther Swygert in Indianapolis in citing the International Typographical Union for contempt of court may open the way for settlement of the printers strike in Chicago, now approaching the end of a full year.

Printers employed by Chicago newspapers walked off their jobs last November. The dispute does not involve a matter of wages but rather an effort by the union to maintain the principle of a closed shop in violation of the Taft-Hartley act.

Several months ago Judge Swygert issued an injunction against the International Typographical union prohibiting it from discriminating against non-union members. The union, however, continued to press for a contract that contained the essentials of a closed shop, whereupon the National Labor Relations board petitioned the court to cite the union for contempt.

The judge's decision Wednesday did not establish any penalties against the union, but the effect of his decree is to hold the threat of penalties over the union if the union officers continue to demand a closed shop in their dealings with newspaper publishers.

Further defiance of the court would be senseless because it could only result in heavy fines against the union, without hope of gaining its objective.

With the basic cause of the printers strike removed, it seems only logical that the union will now come to a quick agreement with the publishers and call off the strike. In the meantime the Chicago papers have been publishing without interruption by the use of a variety process that bypasses linotype composition.

Resort Sanitation

FAIR prices and good food are recommended for tourist and resort establishments seeking to boost their volume of business, Chester A. Wells, secretary manager of the West Michigan Tourist association, Grand Rapids, said at a meeting of the U. P. Development Bureau here last week.

The good advice in this recommendation is immediately obvious to those who have been in the tourist business any substantial length of time. Gouging practices are recognized as ruinous for the long range development of the tourist business and it is the job of the industry to squelch this tendency among those who are new to the tourist trade.

It might be added that fair prices and good food are not sufficient by themselves to sustain the tourist industry. In fact, perhaps of even greater importance is the necessity for cleanliness and good sanitation.

In this regard, we note an article in a recent issue of the Chicago Tribune by Hal Foust in which he describes a visit into Northern Wisconsin near the Wisconsin-Michigan line. Mr. Foust emphasized in that article that sanitary conditions encountered on the 956-mile tour were extremely bad. Many of the eating houses were without soap and towels and some of the cottages rented to vacationists were within smelling distances of foul back-houses.

This kind of publicity is, of course, harmful to the tourist industry but it is harmful only because the conditions described actually do exist. The solution is to improve the health and sanitation conditions so that subsequent articles in newspapers and magazines can describe the successful efforts being made to guard the health of vacationists.

MILWAUKEE'S ECONOMIC STABILITY

A report from the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago says that Milwaukee has gained more in employment and in worker income than most comparable cities. The report also indicates that Milwaukee is less likely to suffer serious market collapse.

The prime reason for this favorable position among cities is the diversity of the employment opportunities in the metropolitan area; no single factory product accounts for more than 10% of total industrial employment.

One-industry cities, such as Detroit, have periods of top prosperity, but they are subject also to extremes of depression. In Milwaukee, less than half of the total employment is in industry, and employees are spread over 1,800 manufacturing establishments which make a wide variety of products. When demand for one type of product lessens, it is relatively simple for other employers to absorb the greater number of those who are out of work.

This favorable position of Milwaukee may have come more through accident than design. It is, however, vital to the city's future that the present diversity of employment opportunity be maintained. Both industry and labor should encourage development of still further diversification.

It is impossible, naturally, for any city or any area to preserve its prosperity unimpaired in times of national distress, but the cataclysmic effects will be minimized by diversification. That was shown in the prewar depression when, though thousands were thrown on relief, Milwaukee weathered the storm far better than most cities.

Take My Word For It

Frank Colby

SATURDAY ROLLCALL

McWilliams: I am a teacher and am unable to explain to my class the correct pronunciation of the Norwegian word fiord. Will you please make it clear for my students?—W. P. B.

Answer: First, I recommend the customary English spelling: fiord. To pronounce it correctly, remember that the "i" (also the "j" of fiord) has the sound of the consonant "y" as in yes, your. The "o" is either "oh" or "aw." First choice: fyord; second choice: fyawrd.

Omaha: Here is a clipping which states that the word skiing is correctly pronounced "shee-ing." What do you say?—W. T.

Answer: The word ski, in Norwegian and Swedish is pronounced "shee." But the word has long been established in British and American English, in which "k" never has the sound of "h." The Standard American pronunciation, of course, is: skee. And skiing is: skee-ing.

St. Paul: Some political speaker or other (I forget which one) has been referring constantly to the Berlin crisis as "it is a kry-seez that. . ." Can't you make him stop it?—L. W. B.

Answer: Political speaker, stop saying "kry-seez" for crisis. The word crisis is singular, and the correct pronunciation is: KRY-siss. Now if there is more than one crisis, you may use the plural form crises, and pronounce it: KRY-seez. But to say "KRY-seez" for the singular word crisis is as absurd as Fulton Lewis's "PREM4-seez" for the word premises.

Program note. Henry Wallace does not say "pro-gr'm." He correctly pronounces the -gram as in monogram and diagram.

Dewey Campaign Like Clockwork

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Aboard The Dewey Campaign Train.—The shrewd managers of the Dewey campaign who named this train the Victory

Special knew exactly what they were about. It is part of the atmosphere of success skillfully cultivated from the outset and which now glows like a technicolor sunrise.

But they might have given this highly efficient train an even more portentous name — they might have called it the Destiny Special. For over it hangs a large air of destiny and great events to come.

You can almost hear, offstage, a super-charged orchestra playing Pomp and Circumstance or, even, Hail to the Chief. And, incidentally, a few local bands in their fine Republican zeal have anticipated events to greet Governor Dewey with the stirring anthem customarily reserved for the President of the United States.

CAMPAIGN WELL ORGANIZED
A great deal has been written about the clockwork skill and the split-second timing with which this campaign is being run. It is made to sound at times as though it were a kind of mean trick to put over on the simple homespun rival who is telling the folks in county-fair style.

What this ignores is the origin and background of the skill. It should surprise no one that after six years as governor of New York and one previous contest for the presidency, the Dewey campaign moves like greased lightning. Or, it might be more accurate to say, greased lightning slowed to proper tempo for television cameras.

The key is the New York governorship. Within the confines of the most populous and wealthy state in the union is every problem and every conflict—social, economic, racial.

The governor who learns to manage these problems has a running head-start for the presidency, both as administrator and politician. It is not accident that, as Warren Moscow points out in his useful and highly readable book, "Politics in the Empire State," in 14 or the 20 presidential campaigns since the end of the war at least one of the principal nominees was a New Yorker.

There are striking parallels between Dewey and certain of his immediate predecessors in the governor's chair at Albany. Both Al Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt developed the same skill in public management and the same adroitness in political campaigning. There are striking differences, too. Al Smith retained the accent and something of the heartiness of his early days on the Fulton street fish wharves. Roosevelt was the Hudson valley aristocrat, tempered by a brush with death and long invalidism.

MAY BE TOO EXPERT
Dewey has no strong individual personality stamp. This is one reason he is often called synthetic, an adjective his enemies sometimes applied to Roosevelt. It is significant that Dewey is the first candidate for the presidency who was born in the twentieth century. This is pre-eminently the century of the advertising man, the publicist, the highly paid specialist in influence, and New York is the center of the influence industry. Small wonder, then, that around Dewey there should have developed a group of experts who synthesize his personality and his considerable skills.

In the very expertness of his campaign, he may be laying up future trouble for himself. His promises are general. They are broad enough to cover almost everyone. Issues are not specifically discussed.

But the time is coming on or about Jan. 21, when Dewey will have to begin making some tough decisions. It will not be possible to please almost everyone. The question is whether he will have prepared the public for what he must do when he becomes president.

The Roosevelt experience again suggests a parallel. In 1936 FDR, running for his second term against a backdrop of almost certain victory, conducted what was in effect a full-dinner-pail campaign.

Not until the last week or so, when it could make no difference, did he talk about issues, and then for the most part in generalities.

Yet, shortly after the new Congress met in January, with an overwhelmingly Democratic majority, Roosevelt sent up his plan to remake the supreme court, a plan that must surely have been in his mind long before the November election. A surprise and shock to public and party, it was very nearly the end of Roosevelt's influence in domestic policy.

While it is unlikely that Dewey has such a bombshell in the making, he is too positive and farseeing not to have his own program in readiness long before January. And in the light of the current campaign that program may seem strange and alien.

Alexandria: At my Masonic Lodge, the word demit (a transfer from one lodge to another) is pronounced "DEM-it." Is that correct?—W. B. C.

Answer: Sorry, no. The verb is: de-MIT. The noun is: dee-MIT; but there is an increasing tendency to pronounce the noun as: DEE-mit. This follows a well established pattern in American English as seen in such words as PER-mit, noun, per-MIT, verb; CON-tract, noun, con-TRACT, verb; PRES-ent, noun, pre-SENT, verb; etc.

Mrs. H. D. C. of Aberdeen, S. C., finds this loony logic in a recent issue of Life: "Desk drawer has keys, socks, and chocolate, which Forbes always nibbles."

The troublesome, who-whom construction is discussed in detail in Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-24. For a copy of this helpful leaflet, send 5c in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby, care of Escanaba Daily Press, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Hey, Folks, Aren't You Overlooking Something?

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

THE PHILIPPINES—Dr. Conrad Benitez of Manila, Philippine Islands, spoke to the Escanaba Rotary club at its meeting last Monday and said several things about his homeland that we should know.

Benitez is a classmate of G. Harold Earle of Here mansville, for they attended the University of Chicago back around 1909, and it was in that year that the then young Filipino student visited the Upper Peninsula as a guest of Earle's.

Benitez described those early years as a student in this country as the "bright spot" of his life, especially when he looked back upon all that has happened since—the invasion of the islands by the Japanese, the determined struggle for existence, and the triumph of survival as an independent country.

THE MESSAGE—To the Escanaba Rotary club Benitez presented a flag of his country, a gift from the Rotary club of Manila. The flag, he said, is a symbol of the many fine things America has undertaken for the benefit of mankind in that part of the world.

"In the Philippine Island it began at the start of the century. At first the old leaders were doubtful. Today no one can say that it has not been a success, for the Philippines are now the symbol and the bulwark of democracy in the western Pacific."

FIRM RESOLVE—Dr. Benitez was among the first of the Philippine youth to come to the United States for their education.

He returned to become one of the leaders in the rebirth and growth to independence of his people. He is a man of medium height, cultured in thought and speech, smiling and urban. If your impression of Filipinos has been of a people squat in figure and only a step removed from the savage you should bring your ideas up to date.

"The people of the Philippines are the only colonial people who fought actively with their leaders in the last war," Dr. Benitez pointed out. "Why? Because in 1902 President McKinley extended to the Philippine Islands the Bill of Rights, a document that has made a tremendous impression upon us."

America aided the Philippines physically and economically. Yet it was the message within the Bill of Rights that was felt most deeply by the common man, Dr. Benitez continued.

"The American way became our way, and when the crisis came there was no propaganda strong enough to sway us."

How completely Japan failed in the Philippines is now a matter of recent history, a shining commentary on the firm resolve of a people inspired by a great document—the Bill of Rights.

OUR NEIGHBORS—"Now we are independent and pioneering with you in the field of international relations. Airlines connect the Pacific in two days, and I am coming here. We are really neighbors," said Benitez.

THE DEFENDERS—"We now have a law which permits Philip-

Escanaba—Lorraine Trepanier underwent an operation for relief from appendicitis at the St. Francis hospital and is doing as well as can be expected so soon after the ordeal.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Beauchamp, 321 Ludington street are the parents of a son born at St. Francis hospital.

Manistique—Mrs. David Fennell, 303 North Houghton avenue, is visiting relatives in New York. Mr. Fennell will also leave for a visit in the East shortly.

Gladstone—Ralph Cornell left Saturday for Green Bay where he will be employed.

pine youths to serve in the United States Army while retaining their Philippine citizenship," Dr. Benitez continued. "We are cooperating because our people understand the fundamental meaning of the Bill of Rights and realize there are bigger issues involved than our own independence. We recognize the meaning of personal liberty, and we are more than ever committed to the defense of those human rights."

THIRD LARGEST—The freshness, the inspiration that stirred the hearts of Americans in 1776, the courage to withstand pressure and propaganda were here being expounded by Dr. Benitez, representing a people to whom independence and freedom are a recent gift.

"The Philippines and its 20,000,000 people will join in cooperating in any program for human rights," he said earnestly.

And then Dr. Benitez announced something that to him may be commonplace, but it brought a gasp of astonishment from his audience.

"Our country is the third largest English-speaking country in the world."

START AGAIN—English is the language of the country and it is taught in the schools, he said. It is the language of the people, although many also speak Spanish, the heritage left by Spain's adventuring conquistadores.

Today, in postwar Philippines, schools and universities are in ruins. Books are few. "We need food for our minds," said Dr. Benitez.

New York, (AP)—The American Legion, which opens its 30th National Convention in Miami Sunday, has set the most ambitious goal of its history for 1949—5,000,000 members.

The campaign is being undertaken in the face of a post-war slump in membership which has affected all organizations of war veterans.

The Legion now has a record number of posts—more than 17,000—but its membership as of Oct. 8 was 3,065,614, as compared with 3,249,303 a year ago.

Legion officials believe the decline is only temporary, paralleling a similar drop that overtook the organization after the first World War. Its membership of 845,186 in 1920 fell to 609,407 by 1925 but hit a between-the-wars peak of 1,053,909 in 1931, a period of national depression.

With interest in national defense rising and millions of veterans of the second world war as potential members, the Legion sees a period of rapid growth and increasing influence ahead.

Significantly, women are playing a larger role in its activities. The 3,000,000th member enrolled in 1948 was a former Wave—Mrs. R. J. Deland, 24, of Seattle. Her husband, also a veteran, became Legionaire number 3,000,001.

Today there are more than 250,000 former Waves, Wacs, Spars and Nurses in the Legion. There are some 203 all-women posts—but most of the girls prefer to join up with "co-ed" posts.

The Legion, the largest out- neither the first nor last association of war veterans in American military history, was conceived three decades ago in Paris by two wounded soldiers—an officer and an enlisted man.

They were the late Theodore Roosevelt, jr., then a lieutenant-colonel in the First Infantry division, and Sgt. William Patterson. They agreed that as soon as the war was over they would return home and work together to start a veterans' association "for the good of the country."

Patterson returned to his outfit and was killed in action. But "Young Teddy," who was to die a brigadier general in France in the second World War, carried out the project.

An early hurdle overcome by the Legion was the fear by many enlisted men that it would become "an officers' club" and an instrument for those seeking political office. It specifically proclaimed it would be non-political in its acts of incorporation.

Legionaires are proud that between 1925 and 1944 they helped raise and spend $53,000,000 for the care of some 6,749,000 children; that more than 250,000 high school students competed in the 1948 national oratorical contest; that a million kids each year participate in the American Junior League Baseball program; that 24 graduates of this program played in the All-Star game between the American League and the National League.

The legion, now thirty years old, feels its roots go deep into the American way. It feels it is going to be around for a long time. It says:

"The American Legion looks forward to another generation, at least, of continuous useful contribution to American life and American public opinion, and it is shaping its plans in accordance."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Louisville, Ky.—Thanks to the most popular man in Kentucky, Senator Alben Barkley, the Bluegrass state will go for Truman in November. It will not elect a Democratic senator—for two reasons.

1. The Republican senator, John Cooper, has had a good senatorial record and deserves to be re-elected.

2. The Democratic candidate, frequently unsober Congressman Virgil Chapman, has such a miserable record that many Democrats are getting fed up with him. Thereby hangs some interesting inside history.

Shortly after Congressman Chapman won out in the primaries, a group of labor leaders approached Democratic Governor Earle Clements in Louisville and told him that if he would get Chapman to support the Democratic platform they would give him labor's endorsement.

Gov. Clements is largely responsible for getting Chapman the senatorial nomination, but when he asked his protégé to support the Democratic platform, Virgil refused.

When President Truman's train came through Kentucky, however, it was a different story. Chapman hung on the president's coattails from beginning to end. And all the way across the state, Truman and Gov. Clements begged Chapman to say he would support the Democratic platform. Each time he refused.

"I will not give up my position as an independent statesman," Chappie kept repeating.

"Won't you promise to support Truman?" pleaded Gov. Clements.

"Only when I agree with him," replied the would-be senator, who for once appeared to be cold sober.

"Will you promise to support Barkley?" countered Clements.

"Not even Barkley will ride on Virgil Chapman's coattails," replied the congressman.

"All right," shot back the enraged Clements, "if you think you are such a damned good statesman just paddle your own canoe from here on out."

Since then Governor Clements has ignored Chapman's campaign and has concentrated on Truman and Barkley.

KEEPING-THE-RECORD-STRAIGHT
In yesterday's column it was suggested that not all the issues in this campaign are getting a fair airing before the public. Following this up, here are some facts the public deserves to know about:

Twisted Republican facts: Gov. Dewey plus other G. O. P. leaders have heaped criticism on the Democrats for failing to clean the Communists out of government. This is an important issue.

However, on March 16, 1947, J. Edgar Hoover testified that the two states with the largest number of Communists were New York with 30,000 and California with 8,553, giving them 52 per cent of the nation's card-carrying Communists.

The governors of these two states are now running for president and vice-president of the United States.

In the fall of 1946, Attorney General Tom Clark placed the California Labor school at San Francisco on the "subversive list" as a Communist-front organization. Simultaneously the Veterans Administration in Washington requested the state of California to remove this school from its approved list of veterans.

The state and not the federal government is given the power of certifying those schools which can receive veterans benefits. And though the Veterans Administration in 1946 requested California to un-certify the Labor school, it was not removed from the list until June 30, 1948.

In the interim, the U. S. government was forced to pay thousands of dollars to a school which was teaching Communism—due to failure of the state of California to act.

Twisted Democratic facts: Attacking monopoly in Louisville, the president stated: "Three steel companies own 59 per cent of all the ingot capacity of the United States."

One of these companies is the giant U. S. Steel corporation. And in Louisville Mr. Truman ignored the fact that his own administration helped increase U. S. Steel's part-monopoly when it sold the government-owned steel plant at Geneva, Utah, for 20 cents on the dollar. The justice department's anti-trust division strongly opposed this sale to U. S. Steel on the ground that it increased monopoly. However, the anti-trust division was overruled by higher-ups.

Another of the three companies referred to by President Truman at Louisville is Republic Steel. But he also forgot that his own administration increased Republic's monopoly trend which he so vigorously criticized.

The Truman administration has given Republic Steel for a long steel facilities which cost the government $155,000,000. The government's South Chicago plant, costing $92,000,000, was sold to Republic for $27,000,000, while the government allowed Republic to lease a wartime blast furnace at Gadsden, Ala., and then close it down for more than a year—despite the tragic need for pig iron.

Finally, when War Assets Administrator Jesse Larson got tired of Republic's favored position and sold the government's Cleveland blast furnace to Henry Kaiser, higher-ups played into Republic's hands by shilly-shallying on the deal for weeks, refusing to O. K. the sale to Kaiser, an independent.

These were things Mr. Truman overlooked when he made his speech at Louisville.

Ethel Sorrow,
Richard Steede
Married Today

Autumn flowers decorated the altars of St. Joseph's church this morning for the wedding of Miss Ethel Sorrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sorrow, Escanaba Route One, and Richard Steede, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Steede, of 221 North 16th street.

The double ring service was performed at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Stephen, O. F. M. St. Joseph's choir sang the music of the wedding mass, with Mrs. Elmer Bonifas and Mrs. Ray Olson, soloists. At the offertory "Ave Maria" was sung by Miss Doris Costley. The bridal procession and recessional were played by Miss Eva Cossette, organist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Mary Jane Gruen, maid of honor, her sister, Viola Sorrow, who was bridesmaid, and Joyce Borman, flower girl. James Nault was best man for Mr. Steede and Francis Perron was groomsmen.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin, styled with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, tapering to points over the hand, and a full skirt which formed a court train. Her fingertip veil was lace edged, caught to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of Johanna Hill roses, baby mums and candy-tuft. Mary Jane's gown was fashioned with a pink net bodice and full skirt of marquisette over taffeta. She wore matching lace mitts, and a pink flower head-dress with a shoulder veil and she carried golden yellow baby mums.

The little flower girl was dressed in a lavender satin frock. She had matching flowers in her hair and she carried a bouquet of baby mums and roses.

Mrs. Sorrow wore a black suit with matching accessories and a corsage of baby mums for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Steede wore a crepe print with black background and a like corsage.

Is the Bride Of
Bernard St. Onge

Dorothy Mae Bartley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bartley, sr., 330 Stephenson avenue, and Bernard St. Onge, of Diori, Michigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. St. Onge, spoke their marriage vows in a ceremony this morning at St. Patrick's church.

Baby mums were arranged with the lighted altar candles for the 9 o'clock nuptial high mass at which Rev. Martin B. Melican officiated.

Mrs. John Greis, jr., was her sister's matron of honor and Mr. Greis served as best man. Ushering the guests to their places were Neil Bartley, jr., brother of the bride, and Robert Schwalbach.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a double breasted tailored suit of metallic gray gabardine and garnet colored accessories and her corsage was Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Greis wore a tailored suit of burgundy with smoke gray accessories and a corsage of baby mums with a deep wine center.

Mrs. Bartley attended her daughter's wedding in a dress of autumn brown with which she wore a brown feathered hat, matching accessories and gold jewelry accents and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a black ensemble and a corsage of yellow roses.

Miss Barbara Greene of Hancock, a close friend of the bride, sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" at the Offertory of the mass. The traditional bridal procession and recessional were played by Mrs. William Rampsack, organist.

The wedding breakfast for 40 guests was served at the Log Cabin and a reception for 150 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. The dining tables at the north and south ends of the room were decorated with greenery and fresh nosegays, tucked in the double tiered tablecloths. Cedar boughs to which were pinned single flowers decorated the windows and arches, and centering the bridal table was the tiered wedding cake topped by a tiny bridal couple. The color theme was pink, apple green and white. Assisting at the reception were Florence Martell and Bette Lou Bartley.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to an unannounced destination the bride was wearing a mulberry flare back coat over a black French crepe dress trimmed in faille, with rhinestone necklace and earrings, and matching accessories. They will live in Bismarck, N. D.

The bride is a graduate of Escanaba high school and Cloverland Commercial college. Mr. St. Onge, a graduate of Ishpeming high school, served with the United States Marines for four years, and now is employed by the Northland Greyhound Lines, Inc. Out-of-town guests at the wedding include Mr. and Mrs. E. J.

Bay Windows Add Charm to Home of The Week

THE NIAN TIC — Bungalow: This attractive house, 'The Niantic,' has complete living accommodations on one floor. The attic space is designed only for storage purposes. If built as shown, with the attached garage at the side, the structure will require a lot at least 50 feet in width.

Wall Projections Give Small Home Unusual Lines

There's a "homey" charm about any house with a bay window. And in the many small homes now being built, bays are definitely staging a "comeback" in popularity.

The Niantic, an all-on-one-floor cottage design by the "Home of the Week" Plan Service, introduces a bay as one of several wall projections and setbacks, all of which contribute to its distinctive character. But because of these, The Niantic, having overall dimensions of 39x25 feet (including the attached garage) requires a lot with not less than 50 feet frontage.

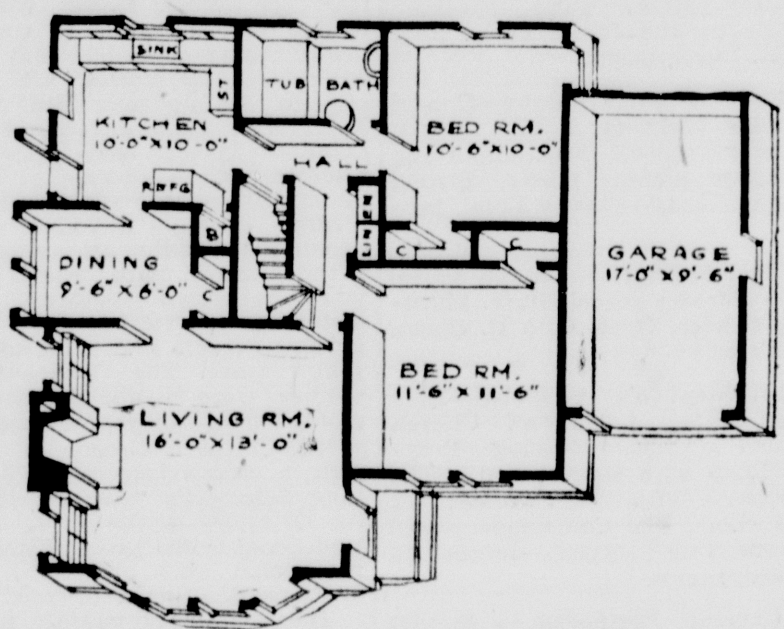

Clapboard Or Shingled
The outside walls of a house of this type may be either clapboarded or shingled. Colonial green trim would look well. The house pictured was painted white, with green trim, a combination always in good taste. The roof was surfaced with green asphalt shingles.

Entrance to the house is made from a cement step with a simple iron railing at one side. A door of stock design opens directly into the living room.

In this 16x13 foot room interest is divided between the bay with its four casements at the front and the bookcase-flanked fireplace which occupies the other outside wall. Small windows over the bookcases admit additional light. In the small inside wall of the room are two doors, one opening into the dinette and the other into an L-shaped central hall.

Good Sized Dinette
The dinette is large enough to accommodate the average apartment size suite. By projecting the outside wall, extra length has been given to the room, bringing floor dimensions to 9.6x6 feet. A double casement window furnishes good light. There is a large closet space in one end of the room.

A double-action swinging door connects the dinette and the adjoining kitchen. Ten feet square, this room is well laid out, with the refrigerator, range and working counter and sink arranged to facilitate food preparation. A service entrance door opens on a sheltered porch at the side of the house. Another door from the kitchen connects with the central hall. There is a broom closet in the kitchen, beside this hall door.

Attic Unfinished

Just beyond this door, leading down from the hall, are stairs to the basement. A modern bathroom and the two bedrooms open off the hall. Between the bedroom doors is an unusually large linen closet and, opposite, a door opening on stairs to the unfinished attic.

The bedrooms are of comfortable size, measuring 11.6x11.6 and 10.0x10.0 feet, respectively. Each has a clothes closet and two window openings.

The cubage of the house proper, totaling 17,500 feet, could be reduced by limiting excavation for the basement to the space under living room, dinette, bath and kitchen. If this is done, proper ventilation should be provided beneath the bedroom floor. Insulation between attic and room ceilings should also be included in construction details.

Plans Are Available
Complete plans and specifications for this house, The Niantic, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Daily Press, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

(Released by the "Home of the Week" Plan Service.)

Simple Iron Railings Effective For Home

Simple iron railings may be effectively used on both the exterior and interior of the home, but they find their widest service as a stairway and porch guard. Attractive designs are available for those who wish to add a decorative touch to the front-porch railing.

Home Preparation
Cleans Wallpaper

Dirt and grime, (not grease), are readily removed from wall paper by a putty-like material easily prepared at home by blending four teaspoonfuls baking soda, two cups of flour, five teaspoonfuls household ammonia, with the addition of 1 1/4 cups of water. Cook in double boiler for about 90 minutes. Knead until smooth.

As friction frequently removes the design from some wall papers, test the material on a hidden area, turning the putty continuously to present fresh surface to pick up dirt. If color or design is affected, remove surface dust by brushing gently or with vacuum cleaner, as faded areas often are more conspicuous than dirt. When clean, wipe the wall well to remove putty crumbs. The starchy putty attracts bugs.

CLOTH
SHADES

Your new window shades are our problem! From our choice selection of distinctive shades you can have a smartly styled interior in the flick of an eye-lash. Simply measure your present rollers, tip-to-tip, as shown in above diagram, height of window opening, too. Bring these in and in a jiffy you will walk out with complete new shades from our stock.

and the school faculty will act as judges. At the close of the contest five names will be chosen by the judges and then the students will vote to select the winning name. The student submitting the name will receive two season tickets as a prize.

Parent-Teachers Meeting

A large crowd of parents and friends of the local PTA unit attended the meeting at the school on Tuesday evening. Judge William Miller of Rapid River gave an interesting talk about the work of the Probate Court. Before his discussion Mr. Miller sang "Bless This House" accompanied by Miss Olive McClinchy. A group of pupils from Mrs. Bramer's second grade presented a short program dedicated to Columbus Day.

During the business meeting the activity for September was closed with Lew Bramer receiving the load of wood. This activity netted the P. T. A. funds $40.70. A game party was planned for October 24 at the Civic Center.

A social hour followed with prizes won by the following: Vital Hebert, 500; Mrs. Clarence Menary, Cribbage; and Mrs. Herb Blowers won the games award.

Lunch was served in the school dining hall by the following committee: chairman, Mrs. Amos Ritter, Mrs. John Schwartz Jr., Mrs. James Krutina, Mrs. William Rogers, Mrs. Myron Moore and Mrs. A. B. Bernier.

The November committee was named as follows: chairman, Mrs. Antone Deloria, Mrs. Clarence Menary, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. Andrew Krutina, Mrs. Herb Blowers and George Miller.

Ingrid Bergman Given Big Welcome In Sweden

By Mrs. Herman G. Nelson

Stockholm, Sweden, (By Air Mail)—After an absence of nine years from her native land, Ingrid Bergman came back to Sweden and Stockholm Oct. 5 to be received as if she were a princess. Crowds gathered at Bromma airport to await her arrival by Scandinavian Airlines plane and thousands gathered at Grand hotel to get a glimpse of the Swedish film star who had made good in a big way in the United States.

Ingrid Bergman

Her simplicity and charm, her beauty and fascinating features took everybody by surprise. Her face was without makeup and even without powder. When she became warm under the press of the crowd and the constant flashes of cameramen, she wiped her face. She appeared young and natural and unspoiled.

Ingrid Craves "Filunka" — "I guess, what she told reporters she longed for: 'Filunka, strumming, lingo, rag-brood (eye bread).'"

"Men films det inte filunka i Hollywood!" she was asked, and her answer was that there was no "filunka" in Hollywood since since all milk there was pasteurized.

Asked what she planned to do in the future, the film star replied she did not know, that she was waiting for a "manuscript" with a role to her liking and character. Until such time that she decides on her next picture, she said she plans to enjoy her freedom and to meet her family.

She pointed out that her daughter Pia was at Madelapad in Sweden, that she had been in London and that her husband was in Los Angeles. In reply to questions, she said she was planning to become an American citizen since her work would continue in the United States for the most part.

"I enjoy being happy," she told the scores of reporters who crowded around her that first night in Stockholm.

Meets Escanaba Visitors — At the Swedish-American dinner in the Stockholm city hall, I renewed my acquaintance with many of the members of the Sweden delegates who visited Escanaba last June with Prince Bertil. Among those who asked to be remembered to their American friends were Bertil Kugelberg, Nils Goude, Sven Dahlman, Per Sandberg, Einar Sjogren, C. B. Winqvist, George Hedman and Bengt Jansson. Also present were Mrs. Maja Carlquist, Signe Bengtsson and Marta Linder, who were in charge of Sofia Flickorna.

When the prime minister of Sweden, Tage Erlander, whom my husband had met here last January, introduced me to his wife, he remarked: "I have promised to take care of Mrs. Nelson and her daughters. Will you help me?" Mrs. Erlander told me to call her on the telephone and invited me to visit the school, where she said she teaches.

It is surprising and interesting to meet so many people here whom one has met before in the United States.

Major George V. Perry, prominent in Salvation Army work for 20 years in the United States and known in Escanaba, spoke last week in Stockholm at the huge Filadelfia church which seats 3,300 people. About 2,500 attended and a thanks offering of 1,250 kronor was received. Lapp-Lisa, known at home because of her records, sang. Having met her in Gothenburg earlier in the summer, I slipped down to where she sat and conversed with her. She said she will leave for America next March 4 to appear in a number of concerts. Perhaps she will be coming to Escanaba too.

Major Perry had fulfilled a childhood dream in coming from Gothenburg to Stockholm. He had been privileged to ride in the locomotive of the new "Goteborgsgaren," Sweden's fastest and newest train, with the engineer. It was a thrilling experience he told me.

Sven Olof Sandberg widely known as a singer of lyrics and folk songs, also will be leaving for the United States shortly. He will appear in a number of concerts during late October and November before continuing on a trip to Australia. He is accompanied by his charming wife and three young children. They plan to stay in Australia for about a year.

Sandberg had Christmas breakfast in our home two and a half years ago in Rockford, when he sang at Jul-otta services in our church. Millions of records of his songs have been sung and are found in almost every home in Sweden and in American-Swedish homes also.

In the light of the coming presidential election in the United States the announcement here that the Sweden parliamentary elections on Sept. 19 brought out a record vote is of interest. More than 82 per cent of the 4,700,000 eligible voters of Sweden went to the polls, as compared with 71 per cent, the average during the last 10 years. An upsurge of 10 per cent in votes was recorded this year. It was due, according to an analysis here, to a rising political interest in the middle and working classes.

Although King Gustaf V of Sweden has not been in too good health, he has participated in hunting this fall. He has not missed his annual moose hunt, a single year since 1885. I wonder if any hunters in the upper peninsula of Michigan can equal that record. He bagged two moose himself in a strenuous two-day hunt at Hunneberg in southwestern Sweden.

The oldest married couple in Sweden are Mr. and Mrs. Nils Peter Jonsson in Skane. They have been married for more than 72 years and have lived during the reign of all the Swedish kings of the Bernadotte dynasty, from Charles Johan XIV, a former marshal in the army of Napoleon, to King Gustaf V. Mrs. Jonsson recently observed her 98th birthday and her husband reached that age some months before.

Beautiful Autumn — Stockholm weather has been beautiful this fall, in comparison with a rainy and cool summer. The first 10 days of October have been very much like our Indian summers. I had been led to think that October was rainy and dreary in Stockholm, but it has been different this year, everybody tells me. The leaves were still green the last Sunday in September but by the first Sunday of October they had begun to turn and they became more and more beautiful and colorful during the week. From the windows of our apartment, overlooking a woodland scene in two directions on the outskirts of Stockholm, we have watched the maples change to reds and yellows. The birches with their white trunks make a beautiful picture against the tall green pines and firs, the branches of which reach higher than our fourth floor windows. They have October blue skies here, too.

CUBA CHANGES ITS PRESIDENT

But Sister-In-Law Did Not Want To Leave

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Havana—Since I was a fuzze-headed youth the last time we switched a political party in the United States, I figured maybe some research on the inauguration of new regimes might come in handy. There is, I am told, a minute chance that Mr. Truman may not be re-elected next month.

In this selfless spirit of journalistic hard-scrabbling, I have been observing the festivities as the new president of Cuba was crowned, or whatever it is they do to presidents. It has been quite an experience, and I hope that the Trumans, in case they are forced to vacate the White House, will profit by it.

For instance, I hope the old householders will not exhibit the lamentable reluctance to leave that was shown by the ex-president Ramon Grau San Martin and his sister-in-law, Paulina. When Mr. and Mrs. Dewey show up with the moving vans and the gutted chromo of Uncle Ho, the least the Trumans can do is succumb to fate and the choice of the people.

She Wanted to Stay

This graceful condescension to the inevitable was not practiced by Paulina Alsina Viuda de Grau. She liked it, right there in the palace, and expressed a desire to remain. The fact that the brother-in-law, Dr. Grau, no longer held a legal right to the premises seemed to make no difference. They stayed on right up to the deadline of the official inauguration ceremony, and gossips said strong logic had to be used to effect the exodus.

Paulina Alsina is a strong-minded lady. She has been Grau's official first lady, unofficial adviser, and is known as the strong woman of the late regime. She did not write a Spanish "My Day," but was known to evince a keen interest in the financial state of the nation, especially in funds of the ministry of education.

So great was her interest, that Senator Eddy Chibas is going to ask for an audit of her personal fortune. Her brother-in-law, the esteemed Dr. Grau, has already submitted to such an audit, which amounts to a declaration of clear conscience.

Since the educational department's coffers are filled with the product of a special excise tax on each bag of sugar produced, it has been a veritable treasure trove. A recent minister of education, Jose Aleman, is supposed to be Paulina's political buddy, and Senator Aleman is not poor. He is not poor unless poor men indulge in yachts and Miami real estate.

Paulina's Washbasin

But I stray from Paulina's fascinating hold on the palace. The lady in whose honor the town's newest three-decker fountain was named "Paulina's Washbasin" had been so happy in the palace she was observed to weep as she left it, spang on the dot of noon on inauguration day for President Carlos Prío Socarrás, the new boy. And the night before Prío took over, she threw a big party for the visiting missions to the inaugural. The presidente-elect was

Rapid River Man Pays Heavy Fine For Drunk Driving

J. Byron Sanford of Rapid River paid a fine of $75 and court costs of $5 here Friday after pleading guilty to Judge W. G. Stephens to a charge of drunk driving. Sanford was arrested in Manistique Oct. 13 and was arraigned Friday.

Fayette

Family Night

Fayette, Mich.—Families of the Congregational parish enjoyed a church family evening at the town hall Friday evening. Rev. Serge F. Hammond showed a very interesting movie of the Lord's Acre plan in operation in other churches. Also color slides of pictures taken locally were shown. Lunch was served by Mrs. Herbert Watchorn and Mrs. Herbert Pizzala.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. James Rasmussen of Waupaca, Wis., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Osdahl.

Mr. and Mrs. Axel Rasmussen Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Watchorn and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pizzala spent the weekend at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, and the American Sault.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Devet had a surprise visitor Monday, the son of A. C. Moore who will be remembered for his lumbering and other operations on Little Summer Island nearly thirty years ago. This young man was born after his parents moved to Escanaba. The family now lives in California and mother and son were visiting in Escanaba. The latter wished to see the former home of his parents and so was taken over to the island by the Devets who are the present owners.

Not present.

You see, the housing shortage in Havana is acute, and right up to the last minute there were mutterings which may have prevented the official installation of the new president—a man who was the compromise candidate between Dr. Grau's nephew and the aforementioned ex-minister of Book-Learning, Senator Aleman. Even during the hurricane there was a move afoot to unseat Prío—and him elected these three months. There is more to being president in Cuba than the mere fact of election. Some of them only lasted a day.

This one was a rumor-filled fiesta. There were some who said that Paulina removed from the palace a shell-shaped bathtub, of which she was very fond, but this seems to be untrue. The bathtub was removed, all right, but the consensus is that another president's wife removed it. Gossip-crazy Cuba said that even the copper kitchenware and the hinges had been removed from the palace. Although all these rumors proved to have feet of air. There were boos as Paulina left the palace.

None of it makes much difference, though. The education fund is still fat, sugar still sells, and the new president's brother is secretary of the treasury.

POTATO SHOW HERE OCT. 20

Schoolcraft Boosters Expect Many Entries

Schoolcraft county potatoes will hold the spotlight in Manistique next Wednesday when the Schoolcraft county Potato Boosters association holds its fifth annual potato show in the basement of the People's store.

Judging in the contest will be by a representative of the Crops department of Michigan State college. All entries must be entered by 10 a. m. Wednesday. All worthy exhibits entered in this show will be taken to the Upper Peninsula Potato Show, Nov. 2-4. Entries are open to any farmer in Schoolcraft county.

Clayton Reid, Schoolcraft county agricultural agent, said yesterday that 65-70 entries are expected.

Wednesday evening there will be a banquet in the Knights of Columbus hall, beginning at 7:30 p. m. The potato queen will be chosen and crowned at this banquet, awards will be announced, and trophies presented winners. There will also be special quartet music and comments by Phil DeGraff of Trout Lake.

Tickets for this banquet are available at the County agents' office, Linderoth Farm Supply, Schuster's Food Market, Leonard's shop, First National Bank and Farmer's Implement company. Nominations for the potato queen contest are still open, and it is hoped that each rural township in the county will send a queen candidate. Miss Jennie Swisher of Germfask, 1947 potato queen, will reign until the new queen is crowned.

Dearborn Hunter Is Fined Here

Frank J. Nemeth of Dearborn, Mich., was arraigned in Judge W. G. Stephens court here Friday morning and plead guilty to a charge of carrying a firearm in a car while hunting deer with a bow and arrow. He was fined $10 and court costs of $8.50.

Arrest was made Friday in Hiawatha township by conservation officer James Walker.

City Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Reid are the parents of a baby girl, their first child, born Oct. 14 in Shaw hospital here. The baby girl, weighing seven pounds and six ounces, has been named Judith Ann.

KEY BLOCK — Center Joe Watson threw a key block on guard Jim Monson as Gordon Wyatt ran back a punt 57 yards to Southern California's 23-yard line in last quarter before 49,531 spectators at the Los Angeles Coliseum. The Trojans staged off late rallies, however, to shade Rice, 7-0.

Does Michigan Have It Again? H'mm! Could Be

By John F. Mayhew

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 15 (AP)—When it comes to fire power, Michigan 1948 club need concede little to its fabulous Rose Bowl predecessors.

Before the season started, fans bemoaned the "fact" that the Wolverines probably never again would assemble such a magic backfield as the Chappuis, Weisenburger, Elliott and Yerges combine.

And the fans were convinced after unimpressive sectional victories over Michigan State and Oregon.

Then came the 40-0 explosion in the conference opener against Purdue.

The precise, speedy masterful exhibition shook the doubters and sent them scurrying to the record book.

Now they're awaiting Michigan's clash with rugged Northwestern here tomorrow. "Maybe Michigan's got it again," they say.

McMillin Lets You Know Who Is Lion Boss

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—In return for Francis Albertini and Lew Burston, who came back to the 20th Century Club, the tournament of champions has acquired Chickie Bogard and Teddy Brenner. Boxing always was a give-and-take business although Bogard will be the T. C. "foreign representative," head-man George Kietz plans to go to England soon to arrange a Freddie Mills-Gus Lesnevich fight and other matches. Burston is heading the same way for the 20th Century. The Phillies are privately hoping that someone does draft Hugh Radcliffe, the schoolboy pitcher who collected a $40,000 bonus for signing last spring.

Bo's Handout

Bo McMillin, criticized for keeping a tight check on food allowances when his Detroit Lions hit the road, has this explanation: "The boys are going to get just what ol' Bo wants 'em to have no more, no less. It might be one egg and one strip of bacon or two eggs and no bacon. I'll decide, and let there be no second guessing as to who is boss."

Sportspourri

Milt Stock, just hired as a Dodger coach, is Eddie Stanky's father-in-law. Apparently the bums figure it's a good idea to have a relation since they regretfully let Eddie go. The U. of Mississippi freshman football squad has 26 linemen, averaging 200 pounds, and 13 backs, averaging 180. Ought to be a right fair bunch when they grow up. Pete Meier, Taylor, Texas, high school footballer has a profitable sideline of raising bees. Trouble is his teammates are afraid they'll have to run from the bee formation. George Munger, now in his eleventh season, has had a longer "life" than any previous U. of Pennsylvania coach, though he thinks it's a jinx to mention that. . . . probably he has survived so long because he hasn't been able to climb up to that Franklin Field press box.

SOLA HAS BAD TIME

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—Lee Sala squinted through his partially closed left eye today and found his string of 43 professional boxing victories unbroken. But his kayo reputation was tarnished. The young Donora, Pa., puncher was given a bad time last night by Reuben Jones of Norfolk, Va., in the main event at the St. Nicholas arena. Sala staggered through on top, but it was a split decision. He had won 32 fights by knockouts. He couldn't even floor Jones.

Manistique Defeats Soo, 12-6

Football Loop Title Squads On Spot Today

Leaders Must Win To Stay In Race

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—This is "or else" day for champions and would-be champions of the major college football conferences.

The big boys in practically every league run up against bullies their own size. To keep title hopes alive they must win these jousts—or else.

The day's top test is at Ann Arbor where Michigan, the western conference champion, is host to high-geared Northwestern. Both are unbeaten and untied. Something has to give.

The victor is regarded as a cinch to wrap up the conference crown and if it's Northwestern, the attractive Rose Bowl bid as well. The Wolverines are ineligible to play at Pasadena again this year under the rule that limits a team's appearance to once every three years.

Michigan is just one of several conference champions on the grid.

Penn-Columbia

Pennsylvania, Ivy league titleholder and unbeaten since 1946, faces Lou Little's always dangerous Columbia Gamblers. Penn is favored, but its giant line, bulwarked by All-America Chuck Bednarik, could have trouble with the Lions' "goal dust twins," Gene Rossides and Lou Kusserow.

In the Southeastern conference, Mississippi, with three league victories on its unspoiled record, invades New Orleans to tackle a Tulane team that bumped Alabama and South Carolina.

North Carolina, the nation's top ranked eleven according to the latest Associated Press poll, has an afternoon's work out for it at Chapel Hill where it faces North Carolina State, a family rival that is traditionally troublesome.

California, unblemished Pacific Coast favorite, opens league play at Berkeley against Oregon State, figured a stout contender in pre-season ratings.

Southwest Chase

The wide open Southwest race gets interesting with Southern Methodist's titlists playing at Rice and Texas entertaining Arkansas at Austin.

The Mountain States conference champion Utah has a date with Denver, the 1947 runnerup, that should throw a lot of light on that particular sectional feud.

Kansas, the Big Seven titleholder, won an intersectional affair last night, whipping George Washington University, 12-0. Long touchdown drives in the second and third periods provided the margin.

Boston college downed Villanova, 20-13, clinching the victory on Joe Dominick's 27-yard run for a touchdown in the fourth period with an intercepted pass. Villanova fumbled five times.

Boston university thumped winless Temple, 13-7, and University of Miami (Fla.) upset Detroit, 6-0, in other headline night engagements. Jack Del Bello was the touchdown engineer in Miami's 80-yard first period drive.

Babe and Polly Riley In Texas Golf Finale

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 16 (AP)—Mrs. George (Babe) Didrickson Zaharias and Polly Riley, two native Texans, vie today in the 36-hole finals of the Women's Texas Open golf tournament.

Mrs. Zaharias, now a resident of Denver, ousted Helen Dettweiler of Dallas, 2 and 1, yesterday and Miss Riley eliminated Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., 4 and 2.

A protest that Mrs. Zaharias carried sixteen clubs, two over the USGA limit, was disallowed. It was made by two players previously eliminated.

Baltimore Colts End Jinx in All-America

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts finally have broken their western division jinx in the All-America football conference. In so doing they showed they probably are the third best team in the circuit behind unbeaten San Francisco and Cleveland.

The Colts wore down Los Angeles gradually last night, then stomped on the Dons in the final period to win, 29-14. Los Angeles built a 14-0 lead which the Colts shaved to 14-7 by halftime.

TED HORN SERVICES

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 16 (AP)—Ted Horn, three times national auto racing champion, was buried yesterday in Cedar Lawn cemetery here with many colleagues paying their last respects. Attending the services were fans, drivers and officials.

TICKET SCALPING

Detroit, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Wayne county prosecutor's office kept possession today of 37 Michigan Northwestern football tickets in a maneuver against scalping.

The May 6, 1892 baseball game between the Cincinnati Reds and Boston was called on account of sun. After 14 scoreless innings the sun assumed an angle that blinded pitchers and hitters.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS

SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Cuff notes: It has come to light that Escanaba defeated Menominee twice in the year 1899 instead of once as the record indicated. . . . The Eskymos won, 11-0, in Menominee and 10-0 here later on the same season. . . . That squares the record and gives Escanaba 23 victories against 26 for Menominee and three ties in the U. P.'s oldest prep grid series. . . . Incidentally, Menominee has scored the first time it got the ball in 13 consecutive games. . . . Escanaba now has missed the point after touchdown 12 consecutive times. . . . Those four misfires in the 35-mile wind here last Saturday made it 12 straight.

All eyes were to be on either Warren Gustafson or Howard Perron in the try for extra point this afternoon. They've been working hard on placekicking for two weeks now, ever since Escanaba blew the Menominee game because it couldn't make the pesky but vital extra point after touchdown. . . . When Marquette defeated Soo, 27-12, last week, it was Marquette's first win over Soo in 10 years. . . . When Iron River beat Stambaugh, 13-7, last week, it was Iron River's first win over its arch rival since 1941. . . . It has won 10 and lost 27 in the long series with Stambaugh.

The question of the day is will Cappy Keil still be looking for his 100th football victory at Gladstone high at the start of the 1949 season. . . . All eyes will be on the Packers against the Los Angeles Rams in Green Bay tomorrow to see whether Curley Lambeau's drastic action will have any effect on their spirit and play. . . . After their dismal loss to the Cardinals in Milwaukee last week, you recall, Lambeau fined all members of the club and asked waivers on Bruce Smith, former University of Minnesota fullback. . . . Speaking of the University of Minnesota, Claude Tobin, jr., reports that he still has some vacancies for a special bus run to Minneapolis next week to see the Michigan Wolverines tangle with the Minnesota Gophers.

Gilbert O. Maikenknecht, an NMCE graduate, is publicity director at CMCE in Mt. Pleasant, Mich. . . . Our only comment in connection with this is that NMCE could use a good publicity director of the caliber of Maikenknecht, a former newspaperman.

George Grenholm, Escanaba recreation director, reported on the U. P. winter sports institute at the annual meeting of the U. P. Winter Sports council in Marquette this afternoon. . . . The institute, which is something new in the peninsula winter recreation picture, will be held in Escanaba later on this fall.

U. P. baseball fans are getting an unexpected treat in the appearance of Steve Gromek and Bob Kennedy of the Cleveland Indians in the lineup of George Kell's touring all-stars. . . . They were a last-minute addition and came here fresh from their conquest in the World Series—all of which made their appearance even more enticing to dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans. . . . In case it escaped your attention, Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees was named on the all-star major league baseball team for the eighth time. . . . That's a record. . . . Boston's Ted Williams made it for the seventh time. . . . DiMag was only one vote short of being a unanimous choice. . . . We would like to test the pulse of the joker who failed to name the Yankee ace on the 1948 team.

Golf Club Governors To Be Elected Here Next Tuesday Night

Members of the Escanaba Golf club are reminded by W. J. Lavole, secretary-treasurer, that ballots for governors, mailed out to each member, must be filled out and returned before the twilight league dinner at the clubhouse next Tuesday evening. Members are asked to vote for three members to serve as governors.

The league will meet next Tuesday, and the final meeting will be held the following Tuesday, October 26.

Camp Charlevoix Sold by Reimann

Charlevoix—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Reimann of Ann Arbor Wednesday announced the sale of Camp Charlevoix, a private summer camp for boys, to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Smith of Grosse Pointe Woods.

Camp Charlevoix was established in 1927 by the Reimanns on Lake Charlevoix, near here. It has been attended by thousands of boys from 28 states and 3 other countries. Eighteen Grand Rapids boys attended last summer.

Smith has been on the camp staff for 11 seasons and has devoted his full time as associate director of Camp Charlevoix for the last three years. He taught at Detroit University School, Grosse Pointe, for several years.

Reimann has completed his thirty-second year as a camp director. He directed YMCA camps for four years and was founder and director of the University of Michigan fresh air camp for four seasons.

He has established a camp consultant service to camp directors and parents and is executive secretary of the Michigan Camping association. He will devote his time to camp service and plans to write in the camp field as well as for the Camping Magazine, the official publication of the American Camping association.

This is Bert LaBrucherie's 20th consecutive year as a football coach. During that time he has coached at only two schools, both his alma maters. LaBrucherie mentored for 16 years at Los Angeles high school and is starting his fourth campaign at UCLA.

Against Buffalo, Frankie Albert of the San Francisco 49ers punted 82 yards early in the All-America pro conference season.

Quick, Smith Set Emerald Scoring Pace

Ponto '11' Overcomes 1st Half Deficit

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 16 (Special to Escanaba Press)—Coach Hinton Ponto's Manistique Emeralds bounced back from two successive one-touchdown losses after opening the season with four straight victories to topple a favored Sault Ste. Marie Blue Devil eleven here Friday night. The score was 12-6. Breaks figured prominently in all scoring.

To post their fifth victory, the Emeralds had to overcome a first-half deficit of 6-0 established when Bob Sibbald, Soo halfback, scored from the five-yard line on a touchdown play set up by a weak Manistique punt. The Emerald boot traveled only from the Manistique 10 to the Manistique 30 to set the stage for the Soo marker.

John Quick's interception of a Soo pass in the third quarter for a 22-yard advance to the Soo 45 paved the way to Manistique's tying touchdown. Howard Hartman, Quick and Minor alternated to advance to the Soo 8 from where Quick crashed through center for the touchdown.

All tries for the extra point were placements and were blocked, Jim Sutton, Soo center, blocking both "Stique attempts.

It was Soo's fifth loss of the season against a lone victory and came as a heartbreaker for the Blue Devils, who figured their team was fired to the point of going out and winning this one. The team is big and fairly fast but has been unable to click all season with the lone exception of a 51-7 victory over Ishpeming early in the season.

Soo fumbled nine times, and Manistique fumbled six times. Score by quarters:

Manistique . . . 0 0 6 6—12

Soo 0 6 0 0—6

Miami Spills Titans Of Unbeaten Ranks

Detroit, Oct. 16 (AP)—The University of Detroit was spilled from football's unbeaten class last night, victim of its own untimely fumbles and an unyielding University of Miami line that smeared the Titans perfect record with a 6 to 0 upset victory.

Getting expert quarterbacking from tall Jack Del Bello of Philadelphia and powerhouse running from bog Frank Smith of Tucka-hoe, N. Y., the Hurricanes marched 80 yards to a first period touchdown that chilled the 18-451 fans, then held off the Titans to protect the narrow lead the rest of the way.

Skip Alexander Has Early Glendale Lead

Glendale, Calif., Oct. 16 (AP)—The 15,000 Glendale Open Golf tournament swung into the third round today with Skip Alexander of Lexington, N. C., in front by two strokes over co-favorites Ben Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum.

Bespectacled Skip took charge yesterday with his second successive sub-par round over the Oakmont Country Club par 36-36-72 course.

Alexander shot a 33-32-65 for a new course competitive record and a 36-hole total of 70-65-135.

ROCK WINS, 14-7

Rock, Oct. 16—Rock high school defeated the Gladstone reserves football team, 14-7, here yesterday afternoon. Gladstone's lone touchdown was made by Richard Swenson.

Different Kinds Of Snow Produced

Schenectady, N. Y., (SS)—Vapors can be used to produce different types of snow in the laboratory.

Use of vapors to change snow from one type to another was disclosed today by two General Electric scientists, Dr. Vincent J. Schaefer, who produced the first man-made laboratory snowstorm, and Dr. Bernard J. Vonnegut.

They used 30 different vapors in experiments with transforming snow into different shapes. Cold-chamber snow in the laboratory is usually in the form of hexagonal plates. The vapors changed the snow into four different, recognizable shapes, and other freak shapes which may be transitional stages between the other forms.

Investigate Football Lottery Sales At MSC

East Lansing, Oct. 16 (AP)—An investigation of student sales of football lottery tickets at Michigan State college continued today as college officials indicated they were especially anxious to nab the professional gamblers running the pools.

"At present 10 students, including three arrested for investigation, are being questioned," said Stanley E. Crowe, dean of students. "We are continuing the investigation on the possibility that more students were involved."

Campus police said they wanted to nab the "contact men" for the syndicate but added that they feared they had been frightened off by the publicity. Crowe added that no decision has been made as to what action will be taken against the students. He said that no formal charges have been pressed against any of the students and that all are continuing in classes.

Earlier, campus police arrested Elmer Erickson, 24, of Lake Odessa, and Michael Asadourian and Charles Vantanian, both 23 and both of Highland Park, for investigation of illegal possession of gambling equipment. They were booked at the Lansing police station and later released on their own recognizance.

Detective Charles Becker said Asadourian admitted obtaining the pool tickets and the other two admitted selling them. Police estimated the take at "several thousand dollars weekly."

Bucky Harris to Replace O'Neill As Tiger Manager?

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Daily News carried a report today that Bucky Harris would replace Steve O'Neill as manager of the Detroit Tigers. The article claimed Walter (Spike) Briggs, jr., son of the Tiger owner, has convinced his father a change is needed. Trimble said the younger Briggs is due to return from Europe Thursday and will confer with his father then.

Tampa, Fla. Man, 100, Likes Living Alone

Tampa, Fla. (P) — No fanfare was on tap for Thomas Booth, observing his 100th birthday, as he wanted to spend the day alone, as usual.

Booth, a carpenter who still can drive a steady nail and saw a straight board, lives by himself in a small three-room house he built 20 years ago on the banks of the Hillsborough river on the outskirts of Tampa.

He just doesn't like people. He says he likes living alone and is glad he doesn't have any kinkfolds or anyone else around to bother him. He has a retirement pension from a carpenter's union.

He's sound of mind and limb, and does his own cooking. He says he eats mostly out of cans, but would have to do that anyway if he was married.

A widower for 40 years, Booth doesn't regard marriage very lightly. He describes the last years of his own marriage as "awful rough," and says he hears "wives around here hollering all the time — no way for a man to live."

He doesn't think anymore of modern civilization than he does of marriage. Take automobiles: "A horse stops when he sees a hole in the road," says Booth, "but that piece of tin" — waving an arm at a passing motor car — "is no darn good."

Want to live to be a hundred? "Just eat well and get plenty of sleep," Booth advises.

Lansing Farmer, 77, Takes Bride, Age 80

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 16 (P) — Twice-widowed, 80-year-old Mrs. Mary Armstrong is going to marry a 77-year-old Michigan farmer.

Her husband-to-be, Granville Ward of Lansing, Mich., has 30 grandchildren.

Mrs. Armstrong, who has only a few gray hairs, is going to the altar with Granville on Tuesday. She has three sons, two daughters and four grandchildren.

She said she and Ward had a courtship of "several months" and that a friend had "recommended" her to Ward.

Ward, she said, has seven children, 30 grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

Wedding Hits Snag For Boy Elope, 19

Las Vegas, Nev., (P) — Elsworth (Sonny) Wisecarver's latest marital try has hit a snag.

His 18-year-old wife, Betty, is reported to have gone home to mother and Sonny, 19, took a hotel room.

Sonny is the boy who eloped at the age of 14 with Mrs. Elaine Montford. A year later he eloped again — this time with Mrs. Eleanor Deveny. His Yuma marriage to Mrs. Montford was annulled. In the Mrs. Deveny case, no wedding ensued.

Wisecarver and his present wife were married last year in St. George, Utah.

Asked if they had separated, Mrs. Wisecarver said:

"I won't say yes and I won't say no."

Political Rallies May Be Thing Of The Past

BY JACK I. GREEN

Lansing, Oct. 16 (P) — Is that old American tradition, the political rally, a dying institution on the state level?

Governor Sigler opens his reelection drive with great fanfare at Mt. Pleasant and the audience has to get spy glasses to see each other in an auditorium which would seat 1,500. Sigler's managers wear a long face, the Governor acts disgusted and the party crepe-hangers whisper "I guess we're washed up."

G. Mennen Williams, the Democratic candidate for governor, takes his labor-backed campaign to a union hall and draws 60 persons, while 65 loyal unionists sit down stairs and play bingo. This seems to be a terrible thing and probably means Williams won't get as many votes as the dog catcher in crump — if you believe in politicians.

Scarcely a politician in Michigan can honestly say he hasn't had orders from someone above in some political campaign to "get out a crowd," but most of them still appear to regard campaign crowds as a clue to their party's chances.

If Sigler draws more people in Sault Ste. Marie than Williams does in Monroe or vice versa it probably means one thing — better local organization, a more persuasive county chairman.

Observers expect presidential campaign rallies to keep drawing crowds, largely for curiosity's sake.

But curiosity seems to play only a small part in state election interest. Most of the candidates have been seen generally and have nothing especially luring about their appearances anyway.

So what attraction is there to pull busy citizens away from their firesides to hear a candidate read a prepared speech, the bulk of which has been in the newspapers and on the radio for months anyway? Most rallies are composed of one-half self-seekers, one-quarter men who got on the payroll, the county committee and a few friends, a handful of curious and some who go in by mistake.

A few more campaigns like the present one and the politicians themselves may see the light.

Once upon a time, the candidate and his advisers mapped out a careful development of their policies in the form of speeches. Then they alerted the faithful along the route and started out. They opened in the Upper Peninsula early in October and crisscrossed the state according to a rigid schedule, letting off their fireworks at the most strategic spots.

Today, the candidates bustle around the state eagerly seeking an audience before any tea party, luncheon club or county fair, popping off-the-cuff remarks of vague import and wondering why no one comes to see them.

Modern campaigning awaits the coming of a new genius who will conceive a method of giving the candidates an impressive sound-in-board without recourse to that dead horse, a political rally.

Sigler looked for a while as though he were going to break the pattern. In a sense he has, too, but without an effective substitute.

Sigler began quietly getting before the people early last summer. Using his plane to cover ground quickly, he could pop in and out of Lansing in a few hours and show his famous profile to any audience from 15 to 10,000 persons.

He hoped, apparently to keep on that way, but the more conservative politicians insisted that he "make a swing," "take to the stump," "meet the voters."

So finally he tried to do both: continue his informal appearances wherever requested and conduct a "swing" at the same time. It looks as though he is meeting more voters at "non-political" meetings, however, than at the rallies.

Williams is following the traditional pattern, but reportedly is handicapped by the lack of grass roots Democratic organization and shortage of campaign funds which are needed to make a tour highly successful — if that is possible any more.

Some observers think possibly Sigler's original technique is more in the pattern of the future: a candidate who campaigns the year around in spare moments, who thinks a relaxed, friendly luncheon club crowd in April is more fertile ground than a missing crowd in October.

Eire and U. S. Write New Treaty, Replace 133-Year-Old Pact

Washington, Oct. 16 (P) — The United States and Eire are writing a new "treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation" to replace the present 133-year old document, the oldest U. S. treaty still in effect.

The state department said last night final negotiations will be held in Dublin with the aim of completing agreement "in the near future."

The new pact, said the department, "will lay a broad, long-term contractual basis for the economic relations between Ireland and the U. S. A. for the fundamental rights and privileges that the nationals of each country enjoy in the other." It will not cover any military matters.

Officials said if the document is like those recently concluded with China and Italy, it will provide for freedom of information and will lay down specific rules for treatment of corporations, business and investors.

The treaty will have to be ratified by the U. S. senate.

Milwaukee Negroes Held In Sex Orgies With School Girls

Milwaukee, (P) — Seven Negro men are under arrest, two of them on rape charges, as police continue their probe of what one high official described as a series of wild sex orgies, involving liquor and marijuana, among Negroes and teen-aged white girls.

Four of the Negroes are in their teens, two of them in their 30's and three youths, 18, and a man, 38, are charged with carnal knowledge and abuse, a 19-year-old and a man, 33, with rape, and the elder man with making improper advances to three white girls, all 17.

Some of the girls — all high school pupils — admitted smoking marijuana, drinking wine and beer and indulging in sexual relations with the Negroes, the official stated. He said the acts took place in homes, parked automobiles and trucks.

Tribal Throne Heir Weds White, Gets In Bad With Subjects

London, Oct. 16 (P) — The heir-apparent to an African tribal throne disclosed today he has been called on the carpet by his tribe counsellors for marrying a white girl.

The heir, Seretse Khama, 27, who wed Ruth Williams, 24, a London clerk, is flying home to Bechuanaland next week to explain why he became the first Bamangwato tribesman in history to marry a white.

"I still want to be chief of Bamangwato, and want my wife to be by my side," he said. "I expect the final issue will rest with my people."

Hancock Man Named Head Of U. P. Beer, Wine Wholesalers

George Hocking, of Hancock, and Lee King, of Sault Ste. Marie, were elected president and vice president, respectively, of the Upper Peninsula Beer and Wine Wholesalers' association at the organization's third annual convention here this week. Hocking succeeds Ed Tirschel, of Iron Mountain.

Retiring directors are Walter MacDonald, St. Ignace; Andrew Price, Ironwood; Pete Calcaterra, Iron Mountain, and Mervin Pike, of Newberry, and the association's new directors are John Cook, Sault Ste. Marie; Nick Bink, Escanaba; Pete Tinetti, Laurium; Vic Lardinois, of Norway, and Gordon Olson, Marquette.

George Smalley, of Ann Arbor, past president of the Michigan Beer and Wine Wholesalers' association, presided as toastmaster at the final dinner-meeting of the two-day meeting here. The convention was held in the House of Lullington.

Brief addresses were made at the dinner-meeting by Charles Reck, of Lansing, head of the brewery and wholesale division of the Michigan Liquor Control commission, and A. C. Richardson, of Detroit, secretary of the Michigan Beer and Wine Wholesalers' association.

Members of the entertainment committee were Nick Bink, chairman; Larry Fleming and Ralph Williams, all of Escanaba.

Pet Fawn Killed In City; Arrest And Fine Two Men

Earl Guimond, 39, of 2121 Fifth avenue south, and Carl Luenenberg, 17, of 520 South 19th street, last night pleaded guilty in Justice Oliver Estensen's court in Gladstone to a charge of killing a fawn deer in Escanaba Thursday night and were ordered to pay fines and costs totaling $160.

The fawn was shot and killed with .22 caliber rifle at the corner of Fifth avenue south and 23rd street. Guimond pleaded guilty to shooting the fawn with a rifle owned by Luenenberg, who saw the deer while he was retreating from bird hunting, went to Guimond and offered him his rifle to shoot it.

Conservation officers and city police arrested the two last night after receiving complaints from persons in the area who had made a pet of the fawn since last spring. Officers found where the deer had been dressed out in the Guimond chicken coop.

Guimond was assessed a fine of $100 and costs, and Luenenberg $50 and costs.

Proposals On Ballot

Revision of Constitution Proposed

By GUY H. JENKINS
In Grand Rapids Press

Lansing — General revision of the constitution, five constitutional amendments and a referendum on the Callahan Community registration law will be fore the voters at the general election Nov. 2.

General revision of the constitution, which was defeated in the elections of 1926 and 1942, is on a separate ballot. Since 1910 the people have voted on 98 amendments to the state's basic laws; half of them were approved.

The proposed constitutional amendments in their order on the ballot are:

1. Fixing the line of succession in case the governor-elect dies following his election but before inauguration.

The provision for the succession of the lieutenant governor in case of the death of the governor-elect resulted from the confusion in Georgia two years ago when Eugene Talmadge died before taking office. For months the state had two governors. The battle was fought out in the courts. M. E. Thompson was declared to be governor over Herman Talmadge who had polled a few token votes.

Would Repeal Sales Tax Split
2. Repeal of the sales tax diversion amendment earmarking 77 per cent of sales tax collections for local units of government.

Two years ago the people wrote into the constitution the sales tax diversion amendment which gives to the schools one-sixth of the sales tax collections, the same to cities, villages and townships, plus 44.7 per cent of the sales tax totals of the previous year to the schools. The 1947 legislature has submitted the question of repealing this provision.

3. Authorize the legislature to fix salaries of five state officers.

The constitution fixes the salary of the governor and attorney general at $5,000 a year and $2,500 for the treasurer, auditor-general and secretary of state. Proponents of the amendment want the legislature to fix the salaries by law.

4. Authorize the legislature to fix salaries and expenses of its members.

Would Fix Own Pay
Salaries of members of the senate and house of representatives and the lieutenant governor as presiding officer of the senate are fixed in the constitution at $3 a day. Passage of the amendment would give the legislature the right to fix the compensation of the members and their expenses. Now they are not permitted to collect expenses.

5. Liberalize the 15-mill tax limitation to allow increase from $15 to $50 levy on $1,000 valuation for 20 years (now 5 years), by a majority of electors instead of two-thirds as now required.

The 15-mill tax limitation was written into the constitution in 1932. By a two-thirds vote, the electors of any city or school district may increase the tax levy up to $50 per $1,000 valuation for 5 years. The lobbyists for the schools and the Michigan Municipal league want a $50 a thousand tax levy for 20 years approved by a majority vote.

The referendum on the Callahan registration law involves approval or rejection of the 1947 law requiring foreign agents and agencies to register with Michigan's attorney general. That official is authorized to enforce provisions of the statute, which is aimed at Communists.

Because he believed the law unconstitutional, and because no special appropriation was made to administer it, Attorney General Eugene F. Black refused to do anything about its administration.

Opponents of the measure filed petitions to place the law before the people and then attempted to defeat the petitions by having the Michigan supreme court declare the act unconstitutional and cancel the referendum.

The court refused to remove the question from the ballot.
